Do you want to be a part of something really different in college? Street Level Ministries is a UW-Stout Student organization that pushes the limits of what you always thought it meant to be a Christian. We dig into the Bible weekly, put on concerts, run a coffeehouse, travel to a summer music festival, support missions in the Philippines, build close relationships with one another, grow to know God more closely and pursue a life that is sold-out for Him. If you don't know Jesus and want to know how to start a relationship with God, it's a venue to learn about who Jesus is and what that means for you. If you already believe in Jesus and want to grow as a follower of Him, membership in Street Level offers chances to step out in service with Him. Be prepared to be challenged; be prepared to see your college experience through God's eyes and to live it out according to His plan for your Check Street Level out...

College Bible Study

Monday Nights, 7:30 pm

Memorial Student Center, Stout

Monday Night Bible Studies

Street Level is focused on making time for solid, verse-by-verse Bible teaching weekly so your relationship with God can grow and deepen. The College Bible Study is held in the Cedar/Maplewood Room of the Memorial Student Center at UW-Stout. We get together for an organizational meeting at 7:00 pm every Monday night, and the Bible Study begins at 7:30 pm. Pastor Tom, a Stout grad, teaches sequentially through the Bible in a way that applies to real life for college students.

Fall Retreat

One highlight of the fall semester with Street Level is the annual backwoods retreat. This fall we're heading up to the Amnicon forest Superior area. We spend some time away from the busyness of life and delve into the Bible, go for hikes, and enjoy being ridiculous together! Make room on your calendar for this year's retreat being held the weekend of October 16th- 18th.

The Blind Munchies Coffeehouse

The Blind Munchies Coffeehouse is the perfect place to get away from the dorms and relax, play pool, do homework (free wireless), or hang out with friends. It's located close to campus at 621 Wilson Avenue, one block away from Burger King. This non-profit coffeehouse is run by a group of volunteers and your purchases will go toward funding missions in India and the Philippines. It's located in the lower level of Jesus Fellowship of Believers church. Stop in for gourmet coffee and espresso drinks, homemade bakery and a warm, eclectic atmosphere.

Free Live Concerts at the Blind Munchies

One Friday night each month, Street Level hosts a free live concert at the Blind Munchies Coffeehouse. The bands range in genre, and are both local and national up-and-comers in the independent Christian music scene. The coffeehouse serves up gourmet food and beverages before the show starts at 7:00pm. Members of Street Level are offered the chance to volunteer at concerts and be a part of the action! Look for brightly colored posters up around campus and in the dorms announcing the shows.

Cornerstone Music Festival

Each summer, Street Level packs up a traveling version of the Blind Munchies Coffeehouse and hits the road as a group for Bushnell, Illinois. The destination is a 40,000 person Christian music festival known as Cornerstone. We set up the coffeehouse at the fest's main stage and sell coffee drinks to thousands of people with a soundtrack of resounding live bands in the background. We tent there on the grounds for the week and have a blast. This trip is open to all Street Level members and will be an experience you'll learn from and never forget. All of the money raised goes to Street Level's missions work in the Philippines.

www.cornerstonefestival.com

Missions: Philippines

Reaching out to other areas of the world is a huge focus for Street Level. We're currently supporting local pastors in the Philippines on the island of Cebu. In the summer, members of Street Level have the chance to fly over there to experience it personally. Last summer, three members stayed for three weeks. These are some of their comments:
"It was very clear that God was at work in the Philippines, and He was ready to use us if we were willing. Having a chance to see and be a part of a real work of God left me wondering, 'What else can God do?' Forming friendships with the Filipino people was easy to do—they are very friendly and quick to smile and laugh."

"This summer I was able to, for the first time, leave the U.S. and travel overseas to the Philippines. Before this, I had never been out of the country. I didn't really know what to expect. What I found there were hot temperatures, palm trees, the ocean, and most importantly, awesome, welcoming, friendly Filipinos. Sure, I had challenges like hand-washing all my clothes, eating strange foods, not knowing the language, and overall just having to be flexible. You never know when the truck you are in will break down or if the plans you made will suddenly fall through. The entire experience was worth all those challenges, however, because I got to have a tiny part in showing Jesus to the people there!"

"There was a lot of work involved with going on the trip to the Philippines. Almost a full year of preparation goes into it. Then, after spending a few weeks there and coming back, it almost seems like it never happened. The things that I will remember and miss the most are the people. There are many experiences from the trip that I will remember as well but realizing that the people there are just like people here was one of the biggest things that I took away from the whole thing."

Surviving Your Freshman Year

A How-To Guide by students for students

Packet after packet and page after page of instructions for orientation, classes, parking, finances, housing, and meningitis shots arrive in the mail. Some of the most crucial years of your life lay ahead, yet none of these packets tell you the key to surviving the freshman year of college or the years to follow. According to the National Center for Education Statistics<sup>1</sup>, 70% of full-time Stout freshman continue their education the next fall, and 22% of part-time students continue their studies. The overall graduation rate for a bachelor's degree at Stout is 53%. Do you want to be successful or do you want to be one of the 47% that is not? Do you want to know the key? Have no fear; your freshman survival guide is here!! This is not another "Welcome to Stout" packet. This survival guide will let you in on useful secrets such as how to be a Christian in college, roommate ethics, a map of exciting Menomonie features, tutors, time management, saving money, and student organizations. When you walk with God at school, the little details of college life do not become huge fiascos.

Priorities:

Your priorities dictate the direction that your college career takes and its destination. If you have let Jesus Christ take the lead of your life, He should be your first priority; then the rest will be taken care of because He takes care of you. Matthew 6:33 (NLT) says, "and he [God] will give you all you need from day to day if you live for him and make the Kingdom of God your primary concern." This doesn't mean everything will be perfect. He won't give you all the answers to your exam, although that would be sweet. He will, however, give you peace through difficulties and no one can do that except for God.

There is a bigger priority than just getting a degree: following

Jesus daily and being directed by Him. So how do you keep God as your top priority? You can build and strengthen your relationship with God by spending time reading His words, the Bible. Talk and listen to Him. Ask Him what He wants you to do, and ask Him to show you ways you can serve other people. Use the gifts and talents God has given you to help out other students, and tell them about Jesus when they wonder what it is that is different about you. 1 Peter 3:15 (NLT) says, "...you must worship Christ as Lord of your life. And if you are asked about your Christian hope, always be ready to explain it." Find hardcore Christian friends, maybe through a Christian student organization like Street Level Ministries, who will keep you accountable, will pray with you, and will share in the struggles you will face. You will get pulled, invited, and enticed to drink, do drugs, have sex, and seek everything but God more than you ever have before. That is why it is very important not just to know about God, but to actually follow Him and continue to listen, talk, and learn from Him. That being said, your next priority, school, will fall into place and God will give you the resources and time to complete projects and study for exams. (Visit www.studygs.net/index.htm and see page 8 for time management tips)

Roommate(s):

The initial interaction with your roommate(s) is crucial. Living in very close quarters with another person only raises the tension that is already present. The space is tight, you may not know or like the other person or you may become very good friends with your roommate right

Study Tips:

- Study in chunks, alternating assignments
- Harder material may require more breaks
- Don't perfect a paper or project initially, finish it and then tweak it
- Go to alternative places to study
- Use the 20 minute breaks between class to study and do homework
- Hang out with friends when tired and study when alert
- Study over lecture material just after class to retain information
- Complete a project before it is due, giving time for input from the professor
- Review notes and readings just before class
- DO NOT PROCRASTINATE: Start homework the day it is assigned off the bat. Either way, respecting the other person's belongings and opinions will immensely help your transition to college life. Bringing too much stuff can cause major clutter and stress to your new home, so bring the essentials and move more stuff later if need be. (See page 9 for roommate tips and see map of Menomonie for quiet parks and coffee shops to get away for a while)

Tutors:

Using resources the college has such as tutors and workshops is not for dummies. On the contrary, it is for "smarties": people who want a good grade, work for it, and use the tools that are right in front of them. Stout has writing workshops, the Math Teaching and Learning Center, computer labs with specific software for mathematics and science, physics tutors, and chemistry tutors. All of this information can be found on the Stout website, www.uwstout.edu. Once you are there, just search for the department of the class. Each department has its own web page that tells you where tutors or workshops are and the schedules for them. You can also go to your professor when you are struggling with an assignment for advice.

There are plenty of other resources online as well. The Purdue Online Writing Lab is accessible to anyone and provides tons of information on writing papers. Go to www.owl.english.purdue.edu and then click on Non-Purdue Instructors and Students. If you need assistance in a different area, look on a search engine and a lot of websites will pop up. (See study tips above)

Saving Cash:

How do you save money when money acts like a magician and does a disappearing act? Well, there are a few ways to save and still get the things you need. When going to Wal-mart, a lot of people tend to buy a bunch of stuff they don't need, which ends up sitting in their closet, so have a list of what you need to buy and stick to it. Another way to save money is to look for deals around town. Shop at Aldi for groceries on a full stomach; they have cheap snack food, which is better than getting it from the dollar-sucking vending machines. Stop by the dollar store too, not for durable stuff, but for things like wrapping paper or cleaning supplies. There are also great deals on movies from RedBox. Movies from RedBox are only a dollar a night, 24/7. There are RedBox kiosks at the Student Center, Lammer's grocery store, Wal-Mart, and Walgreens. Everyone has a different budget, so figure yours out and then stick to it. (See page 9 for money saving tips and budget help)

Student Organizations:

Student Organizations enable you to meet people with the same interests and take a break from homework. From auto to hand-drumming clubs, there is a group for you and if there is not, you and your friends can establish one. Most of these organizations are also on

Time Management Tips:

- Get a monthly and daily planner
- Have a dry erase calendar in your room with due dates and events
- Review planner and calendar every morning, adjusting accordingly
- Jot down lists on post-it notes throughout the day then add them into one big to-do list
- Put your to-do list on Microsoft outlook or on your cell phone with due dates
- Time-wasters include: TV, video/computer games, Facebook, MySpace, I-Ming, texting, sleeping, reading in bed, waiting at stoplights, waiting in line, thinking

Respecting Roommates Tips:

- Respect their right for study time and sleep time
- Set up rules and a schedule for study and sleep time
- Respect their space and things in that space
- Respect their opinions: You will meet many people in college with opposing opinions
- Wait until your roommate arrives before you start setting up your room
- Don't gossip about them
- Mind your own business: offer your advice or opinion when they ask for it
- Don't bring huge items that will cramp space (i.e. 50" plasma television)
- Ask before you borrow something
- Be neat

Money Saving Tips:

- Buy a Student Advantage Card at www.studentadvantage.com for $20 plus shipping and handling for great discounts on airline tickets, Urban Outfitters, Footlocker, Office Depot and more.
- Visit www.freebiespace.com for legitimate deals
- Visit www.craigslist.com for bargains on everything from bikes to lamps
- Visit www.about.com to learn how to balance your checkbook and create a budget
- Avoid overdraft fees on your bank account ($25 or more) by balancing checkbook
- Use your own bank's ATM to avoid fees
- If you have a credit card pay it on time and in full to avoid late fees and interest
- Clip coupons
- Buy generic items. Pay for the product, not the name
- Look for free events (plenty of them) to attend when going out or on a date
- Don't eat all the time to avoid losing money and gaining pounds

the Stout website and Bash on the Grass during the first week allows you to meet the people in the organizations and see what they are all about. Street Level Ministries is a Christian group of friends that reach out to students on campus as well as the community and around the world. This magazine is written, printed, and distributed by the members of Street Level. So, if you are looking for a real relationship with God and Bible study that goes verse-by-verse through the Bible as well as opportunities to serve God in college, you might want to check us out.

College will either be successful and profitable in your life or it will be a waste of time and money. Putting God first, finding deals, getting along with roommates, not procrastinating, getting involved, and leaving time to enjoy life to prevent "burn out" mode will all guarantee the former rather than the latter if your walk with Christ is the vantage point. Always looking at Him will put everything else into perspective. Now you're set and you can sit down and enjoy the piece of cake that you thought college would be and then get into the real world.

Reborn: Real Change

Change is good, right? In college, everything changes. Your surroundings change. You're exposed to all kinds of new people, new perspectives and new opportunities. Your life will change too. You'll learn how to manage time and how to handle freedom from parental rules. On the flip side, you might have to deal with professors that have more rules than your parents did! You'll see that who you were in high school doesn't really matter now. You might change your style, your friends, your musical tastes and your sleeping and eating habits. You might change your major and your roommates, but have you ever stopped to think about your heart?

Your heart is one of the few things you can't change. For example, have you ever hated someone? Be honest. No matter how hard you tried to be civil, you couldn't really make yourself like them, much less care about them and want good things to happen to them. Why is that?

A lot of people think that the answers to life are "inside us all", but how can we change ourselves on the inside if that's where the problems are coming from in the first place? In the Bible, the prophet Jeremiah stated this fact: "The human heart is most deceptive and desperately wicked. Who really knows how bad it is?" (Jeremiah 17:9, NLT). If you've ever thought you were "in love" and then had it turn out to be wrong, or had that love fade away, you can agree with this verse. Your heart deceived you. Other human beings can't help us either because they're operating with the same deceptive hearts inside of them.

Real and lasting change can't come from inside us or from another person. We need the one true God. He does not have a deceptive heart—He is right and true to the core. This doesn't mean that we merely need good behavior, but right inner character. We don't just need to do right things; we need to be right inside.

God knew what a predicament we were in. He knew that we were powerless to do anything about our deceptive hearts and minds that keep us distant from Him and afraid of Him. He knew that we would try everything to be "good enough" and "nice". He even knew that some people would be rebellious, resisting His love and fatherhood for their lives. He also knew that underneath all the efforts, a desperately lost and confused person still remained.

In His love for us, God sent His unique and adored Son, Jesus, to become a human being and live on this earth. Jesus is fully God, but for a period of historic time, he humbled himself to also become human. The difference with Jesus is that, instead of having a deceptive and wicked heart like we have, He has a pure heart—God's heart. He is free of sin, while we are saturated with it from the day we're born. He always does what pleases God, where humans always do what we think is right or what benefits us, and we end up pushing God away.

When Jesus obeyed God and allowed Himself to be murdered by people who hated Him, He did something amazing. He once and for all completely absorbed God's anger against human sin. After three days had passed, He came back to life and showed Himself to many people. God brought Jesus back to life to prove to us that death is not the final end for anyone who puts their full trust in Jesus. We can bank on the fact that Jesus gained forgiveness for us when He died on the cross.

Through Jesus' sacrifice, God made it possible for people with deceptive hearts to receive completely new hearts. This new life available through Jesus is a gift. It's a gift because God offers it freely to us and all we have to do is accept it. Now we can share a loving and close relationship with God where once there was only distance, hiding from Him, and fear of Him. "What this means is that those who become Christians become new persons. They are not the same anymore, for the old life is gone. A new life has begun!" (2 Corinthians 5:17, NLT)

There is now a confident hope available for those who believe in Jesus. After living this new life on earth in a relationship with God, death only brings us closer to Him. We will spend forever with Him in heaven, the perfect place He's created for us so we can enjoy Him without end. If all you know is your own deceptive heart and you're through with struggling to do good things or rebelling against God's plan for your life, ask God to give you a new heart made possible by Jesus' death for you. You can tell God you're sorry for all the ways you've pushed Him out of your life and the pride that's kept you from accepting His gift to you. Ask His forgiveness, turn away from your old life and do a 180 in God's direction. Thank Him for allowing His Son to be murdered so you don't have to spend forever apart from God in hell. Put your full trust in Jesus Christ, staking your life on the fact that He really is the only way to get to heaven and know God. Today you can begin a loving, personal connection with God that will last for eternity.

WORD ON THE STREET POLL TOP TEN FAVORITE MOVIES

...of Street Level Members

1 Batman: The Dark Knight Batman: The Dark Knight is probably one of the best action-thriller movies ever to hit the big screen. The movie stars Christian Bale as Batman and Heath Ledger as the Joker. The two are very good at leading you on all the way through the movie. Just like the old Batman movies and comics, the Joker is constantly keeping Batman busy with his criminal lifestyle. Check this movie out when in the mood for a Friday night thriller.

2 Eagle Eye Eagle Eye is a rather creepy movie which starts Shia LaBeouf as Jerry Shaw. Shaw constantly receives phone calls from someone with a woman's voice telling him what he needs to do and that if he doesn't do it, he will be killed. From dodging bombs to jumping off of buildings, Shaw does whatever it takes to stay alive and figure out what the controlling voice is that keeps directing him to different places.

3 Gladiator Going back to 2002, Gladiator swept the big screen with its ancient Roman theme and story. Russell Crowe stars as Maximus, the gladiator and Joaquin Phoenix sits on the Roman throne. Maximus has a rather powerful beginning in the movie, but then gets cut off at the knees and fights his way through the rest. If you are into gruesome and long fight scenes, then you will surely like this movie. At 154 minutes long, Gladiator is definitely a great movie for a rainy day.

4 Ironman This well put together movie will keep entertaining for years to come. Starring Robert Downey Jr. as Tony Stark, the film is sure to satisfy your movie expectations. A weapons designer and owner of a dangerous weapon-making facility, Stark takes a journey to Afghanistan to show off his newest creation. When a life-changing series of events come to pass, Stark finds himself fighting for his life and in desperate need of a new invention.

5 Lethal Weapon 1-3 These movies should need no introduction, and I would hope you all have already seen them, but just in case you haven't, here is a short run down. Danny Glover and Mel Gibson star as two crime-fighters who live very different lives. Glover and Gibson are partners who have a tendency to work in a way that costs the police force thousands of dollars in repairs. For a good ol' action film with some slick comedy, sit down with a friend and watch these on a Sunday afternoon.

6 The Sandlot If you reach back into the file cabinet of your brain, I would bet that most of you guys have The Sandlot stored as one of your favorite movies. This movie pretty much pinpointed every young boy's dream: becoming a baseball star and hanging out. The story takes place in a small town where nine boys hit the sandlot every day to practice their baseball skills and hit home runs. Later, the movie gets interesting when the boys run into the dilemma of trying to get a ball back from a man-eating dog and face the "preppy" baseball team.

7 Slumdog Millionaire This Bollywood hit is based off of India's hit game show, "Who Wants to Be a Millionaire". The movie revolves around Jamal Malik, a humble chai seller, who is questioned after he answers every question on the game show correctly. Born in the slums of India, he has dramatic flashbacks after he is asked every question. The flashbacks reveal how he learned the answers. Slumdog Millionaire is a very well-acted and heartfelt film that is sure to leave you entertained.

8 When Harry Met Sally Starring Billy Crystal and Meg Ryan this film is one of a very few romantic comedies that receives a decent rating. It is a classic tale of two people who met in college and went their own ways, but then accidentally run into each other again later in life. After they reunite, the battle between whether a man and a woman can ever just be friends comes into play. This conflict is the setup of the rest of the movie.

9 X-Men: Wolverine Finally, the movie that X-Men fans have been waiting for. This is the much anticipated explanation of the mysterious Wolverine. Don't worry, if you haven't seen the other X-Men movies, you can watch this one first and still be able to follow the story. The movie begins with Wolverine's childhood, moves forward to his early adult years, and leads to his current character. It is simply an entertaining, amazing story.

10 Zoolander If you have never seen Zoolander and are a fan of the comedy of Ben Stiller, you need to watch this. Zoolander is a male model and a classic flake who lives the model lifestyle and is very dramatic about everything. Zoolander finds some stiff competition and tries to deal with his age. Zoolander will keep you laughing and curious about what bizarre thing is going to happen next.

Old Pizza Boxes...Rubbish or Recyclable?

As a college student, one constantly strives to find ways to save money. We here at WOTS wish to aid you in this quest. Since the dawn of time, pizza has been a staple food source for those seeking to attain higher education. Its balance of protein, carbohydrates, and ease of preparation make it an obvious choice for busy students. This product usually comes prepared in a specially designed container that makes its transportation more convenient. Though this container, known as the pizza box, is engineered specifically for pizza transportation, it also has many other uses.

Excellent for fending off anything from advancing hordes of flesh eating zombies or barbarians, to other dorm residents in the cafeteria line, all of which are of similar in nature.

Those of us at WOTS have assembled a crack team of people who watch the Discovery Channel to explore these other uses. Through countless hours of research and testing we have compiled what we believe to be the top ten uses for the "pizza box."

This portable form of shelter protects your hairdo from light to medium precipitation, though probably for one-time use only.

Sled (noun), a small vehicle for sliding over snow. Also known in the Netherlands as a slee. Good for casual entertainment or to take off some sweet jumps.

With flight characteristics similar to a very light masonry brick, it offers good clean fun for all ages.

Whether you're staking out a residence for a special investigation unit or hiding from your RA, nothing makes you blend in more than looking like a pile of discarded refuse.

When stacked in a symmetrical manner, they make excellent end tables. Get the jumbo sized boxes and they can make a great dining room table.

Works best to stop low velocity, low mass projectiles.

My Life has drastically changed ...

A Street Level Exclusive...

My life started to crumble in 5th grade when I was living with my mother in Frederic, Wisconsin. Some people would call this "Up Nort", but I considered it my home. I loved my mother very much, but didn't like my mother's husband very much at all. The elementary school began to go bankrupt and the environment at home of drinking and odd discipline from my mother's husband really started messing with my mind. The summer between my 5th and 6th grade year, I decided to live with my dad. The decision of what parent I was going to live with was the hardest decision I've ever made in my life. It was extremely hard, as I loved my mother very much, yet I knew deep down in my heart that living with my father was what I was supposed to do.

Once I got settled into my dad's house, I really started to rebel against all authority in my life. Not making many friends that first year caused a lot of hatred in my heart. My dad wasn't happy either as he lost his job as an engineer and was home constantly, so I stayed away from home as much as possible. I began to experiment with weed and drank a lot when I was only 13 years old. Hanging out with the wrong crowd didn't help anything either. The only thing I had going for me was my father. His discipline showed me the way of what was right and what was wrong. Without my father's discipline, I have no idea where I'd be today.

Around 9th grade, I stopped drinking and smoking weed and started hanging out with the football guys. Football helped out because it caused me to stay out of trouble and caused my focus to drastically change. I made a lot of friends and started to get active rather than sit around and drink a bottle of vodka with my "friends". I learned at a very young age that the lifestyle of drugs and alcohol was empty and futile.

When I was in 10th grade, I was invited by my friend Peter to check out an organization called FCA (Fellowship of Christian Athletes). I had never had any spiritual guidance in my entire life. I was never told by anyone to go to church, so I never chose to go. That summer, still confused about God and what His plan was, I was invited to go to FCA Football Camp in Decorah, Iowa. The speaker we had throughout that week inspired me greatly and pricked my heart to God's Word. I wanted to read the Bible more and more and it began to grow on me. That week I tried reading my Bible for the first time by myself, but the understanding of it greatly escaped me. The final night at FCA camp, the speaker said that if anyone wanted to follow Christ and be forever changed, they needed to get off their seat, come to the front of the auditorium, and get on their hands and knees. Right away I said, "Screw that," and refused to budge. My friend, with tears in his eyes said, "Come on man, let's go." We all got on our hands and knees and started praying. I asked God into my heart that night, and right away I knew that I was never ever going to be the same. It was really simple actually, all that anybody has to do to have salvation is to literally give up all their worries, concerns, and issues to Christ and He takes care of the rest. I started to look up at the lights and couldn't stop looking at them. For some reason, they seemed a little brighter, the air seemed to smell a little sweeter, and the burden on my shoulders was gone forever. Coming back from that trip I told everyone that I knew how I had a new relationship with Jesus Christ. The image in my head is a stupid 15 year-old-kid in a Menomonie High School weight room telling people about how happy I was and that I was never going to be the same.

Since then, my journey as a Christian has been an interesting one. I went to FCA camp two more years and I grew up as a Christian each time I was there. I read my Bible more and I was connected to a great church as the years rolled by. I found Jesus Fellowship a couple of short weeks after I was first saved, as my father and I went church shopping right away. My life has drastically changed since my life before I knew Jesus and I'll never go back to how I used to live. The Ian that I was before was a completely different Ian. God stretches me each day, and it's truly awesome to have the Creator of the entire universe leading you. I've met countless people and have had countless opportunities to serve God at church, school, and nationwide through missions. My senior year of football, I had the privilege to pray after every single football game both for varsity and junior varsity. I've also gone on two missions trips so far, once with my youth group to Georgia and just recently returned from Cornerstone Music Festival with Street Level Ministries where we raised over $4,000 for missions abroad selling coffee. I am a member of the Stout Christian Organization Street Level and this fall I will be starting my general education courses at Stout and plan to transfer to Eau Claire to be a nurse.

Life now has joy and peace in it. Although being a Christian is a really sweet ride, it's also the most difficult thing in the world to do because your lifestyle goes against what's popular, but the high price of following Jesus is totally worth it. I'd challenge any college student reading this that it is possible for God to drastically change your life in a heartbeat. It doesn't matter what you've done or who you are, He can change you.

Isaiah 64:8 (NASB)

"But now, O Lord, You are our Father, We are the clay, and You our potter; And all of us are the work of Your hand.

A person needs to be willing to take that step into uncertainty knowing that God's going to meet you the rest of the way. Do you trust him?

Jeremiah 29:11 (NLT)

"For I know the plans I have for you," says the Lord. "They are plans for good and not for disaster, to give you a future and a hope.

A Word From The Barn... NICK THE HICK

Today's topic:

Them's Ain't Blue Jeans

When they invented blue jeans they made em one way, long enough, wide enough, big pockets, and a hammer holder. These days you can't hardly sit on the swing with the wife without seein' plenty of people mis-wearin' blue jeans. They got em crazy these days. Them ones with holes in the knees and stains on the side, them ones that are new but look like they run through the wash 700 times already. Then they got them jeans that you gotta rub butter, pig grease, and motor oil on your legs to get 'em all the way up. On the other hand them dang kids and their skate boards wearin' pants 11 inches lower then they belong. Truly I can't see why this isn't an epidemic. You got them health nuts worried bought this swine flu but this pants wearin' has got a many people sick to their stomach. I don't see now turning' from this pants wearing mumbo jumbo so I think I oughta give in. I tell you what I'm gonna do. I'm gonna go down to wal mart, get three pairs of wranglers for $20 a piece and do a experiment. One week I'm gonna wear a pair to the barn and walk through some poo, then I'm gonna spill a little battery acid on em for the holes, spray it with some aftershave and sell 'em on ebay for $185, then the next week I'm gonna wear a pair, color a smile face on backside, throw 'em in the washer 60 times and sell 'em for $100. Then the next pair I'm gonna wear um for 5 years till they is so tight I can't take 'em off and sell them for $8,000. Looks like I might get my family through this economy after all. Well that enough grousing for now.

FATBOY'S BAR & GRILL

If you are in desperate need of escaping dorm land and its food, check out Fatboy's, a bar and grill located in rural Boyceville just north of Menomonie. It has become one of the best places around to eat. Just a down-home, simple bar and restaurant, you won't even find a big screen T.V. or the latest games, but you will leave full and satisfied. With many booths, a few high tables, and bar stools, you will find that Fatboy's is a decorative place where the walls are covered with everything from sports cards to a case full of over a hundred different kinds of hot sauces.

The steak and grilled shrimp combo is the town's choice, especially on a Friday night. If that doesn't make you hungry, they also have a full line of burgers, fish and pasta. The food is really tasty and the service better than most. They asked just enough times how the food was. The steak and shrimp is a good choice and it will fill you up enough to bring half of it home. The shrimp is big and is served on a skewer. Entrees run from $7-$12 for simple meals such as burgers and chicken and $12-$17 for steak and shrimp.

Local BBQ Gets Raving Reviews

You definitely will not leave disappointed, that's for sure. Also, you will be welcomed (not in a creepy way) right when you walk in the doors. So, if you get the chance, head up to Boyceville and into Fatboy's on Main Street for some good eatin'.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR FACE LOOK LIKE A ZOMBIE

Are you sick of the same old Halloween costume? Do you want to be seen but not recognized? Be a zombie and your friends will be like, "Who is that dude, is he alive?" But you can't just buy a mask from the store, what fun is that? Masks also make you sweat and they smell. To make your face look like a zombie is not as hard or as expensive you would think.

STEP ONE: Supplies

- Liquid latex (or Elmer's glue as a substitute)
- Toilet paper
- Fake blood
- White cream makeup
- Blending makeup

STEP TWO: Precautions and Tips

- You can purchase liquid latex at any costume store or go online and search for costume or Halloween websites like www.halloweenexpress.com. Just make sure you know how many ounces you are buying so you don't get ripped off.
- If you are using liquid latex, be sure to test it on your arm to make sure you are not allergic. It's better to have a rash on you arm than on your face!!
- Put on the shirt you are going to wear that night before you start putting on your face.
- Bring along extra face paint for touchups

STEP THREE: Begin your transformation

- Wash face
- Apply a base layer of liquid latex
- Allow to dry, takes about 5 minutes (Elmer's glue takes longer)
- Apply toilet paper in wrinkle formation to cheeks, forehead, neck (wherever you want the dead skin effect)
- Apply another layer of liquid latex
- Allow to dry

STEP FOUR: Complete your transformation

- Apply an extra loose piece of toilet paper to desired location for an open gash effect
- Cover with liquid latex
- Allow to dry
- Apply a base layer of white face paint
- Rip open gash and fill with black and red paint
- Apply dark face paint around eyes and mouth: gray and black
- Start layering other colors of face paint beginning with the lighter colors then move to the dark colors of gray, green, and black
- Apply face paint in the same way to neck and arms for a more complete look (optional)
- Don't go overboard, you can always add more but you can't take away

Now that you've got your face, you are good to go. It is easy to get the costume. You just need old clothes. Rip them up, put some dirt and fake blood on them, and then rat your hair. If you are a visual learner, check out www.youtube.com and search for zombie makeup. Check out:
